It offers a superb protected environment in the heart of a countryside sculpted by vineyards and wooded hills. The Chateau has 15 luxury bedrooms and can accommodate up to 30 guests, 3 heated swimming pools and staffed.

The main Chateau is in fact a XVIIth and XVIIIth Century Chateau, built between 1635 and 1707 and thought to have originally been used as a hunting lodge before transitioning into the castle it is today.
Guests are surrounded by breath taking views of vineyards, lavender fields and truffle oaks, as well as a small olive grove and superbly landscaped formal gardens. The resulting atmosphere is truly enchanting.
A long driveway flanked by tall platen trees guide you to the Chateau, which has been completely restored ensuring XVII th century architectural respect. A beautiful alignment of mullioned windows and stone frames, highlighted by the intricately carved front door, welcome you into the interior of the Chateau where 1000 square meters of living space is found.
Two spectacular pools are found here as well - One uniquely positioned within the historical Orangerie, offering a fantastic indoor experience with walled windows; and a second located outdoors overlooking the gorgeous views of the surrounding hills.

A delightful vaulted chapel with beautiful carved gate dating back to 1661 can also be found adjoining the main Chateau.

The property enjoys breathtaking views of the Luberon and the neighbouring villages. The Chateau as well as the whole property have been completely restored with architectural respect in mind.
The 18th century facade of the chateau has a beautiful alignment of mullioned windows and cut stone frames. The living area of the castle is 900m2.
